British Exodus From Holy Land Is Being Started

First Group Of Women And Children Evacuees Are Being Flown Out

STRIKE FLARES IN PALESTINE

By REGINALD SEIGEL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, Feb. 3.—The exodus of 2,000 British women and children from the Holy Land was underway today as intra-Jewish strife flared in tension-packed Palestine.

The first group of evacuees was flown from Lydda airport near Jerusalem shortly after midnight. Reliable reports said a fleet of 40 RAF Dakota Transport planes were to arrive today to continue the airborne phase of the operation.

Clash Reported

The fraternal clash between Jews was reported from Tel-Aviv, where Irgun Zvai Leumi underground extremists were said to have battled with troops of the Jewish Naganan defense corps.

Five Jews were listed as injured in the fracas which occurred when Irgun fighters tried to prevent defense corps members from posting appeals to the Jewish population not to contribute funds to the underground.

Earlier, all British persons in Tel Aviv were quitting their houses, shops and industries in the Jewish-built community.

As moderate Jewish organizations renewed appeals to the British not to evacuate women, children and "non-essential" civilians, the secret Irgun radio saluted Dov Gruner, condemned underground agent, whose impending execution precipitated the present crisis.

Seeks Evacuation Halt

Mrs. Golda Meyerson, head of the political department of the powerful Jewish agency, appealed again to the British to halt the evacuation measures.

The American-born woman said: "The Jewish community will be happy to make itself responsible for any British women and children placed in its care."

She also pointed out that the British "not to bring suffering on the entire Jewish community of this country."

British authorities have asked British women of Jewish faith in Jerusalem if they wished to leave, but few are expected to do so.

The initial flight of evacuees contained 40 women and children, who were taken to the airport under an armed car escort. The transport plane is to stop briefly in Paris before reaching its destination at London.

PA NEW C OBSERVES

The little old stork went on a scoring spree over the weekend at the Jameson Memorial hospital, seventeen babies being born in the two-day period. Two of the babies died a few hours after birth, it was stated.

The weatherman apparently anticipated the verdict that the groundhog would return on Sunday, for weather conditions of Saturday night gave the ashing crews some hard work, and also made driving treacherous for a time, result of a wintry snow squall.

The defendants were convicted of "mass torture" and of "contributing to the deaths of prisoners" in Japanese camps during the war.

Telephone Workers Expect Settlement Without Strike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The National Federation of Telephone Workers said today that despite a nationwide call for filing strike notices it was confident that wage demands would be realized without a walkout.

The union, which seeks a flat $12 a week increase for craftsmen and operators of the Bell and affiliated systems, yesterday directed local unions to file strike notices by March 1.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the NFWW, said that the step taken "so we will be in a position to go on strike April 7 if necessary."

Beirne pointed out, however, that the union believed settlement will be negotiated on a unified basis, the method which averted a threatened tie-up of the nation's telephone lines last March.

Austrian Peace Parley Progress Balked By Soviet

Gen. Mark W. Clark Biames
Russia For Lack Of Progress Of Deputies

SOVIET DISAGREES WITH ALL PROPOSALS

By KARL E. QUIGLEY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. S. deputy for Austria, today blamed Russia for obstructing progress by the Big Four deputies council in accomplishing a peace treaty draft for Austria.

Clark, in a special interview with International News Service, said the Soviet delegates have not only disagreed with every suggestion by the three western powers, but have failed as well to offer any suggestions of their own.

Blames Soviet Tactics

He blamed the Soviet tactics for the fact that practically no progress has been made by the deputies in drafting the Austrian peace document since the conference began early in January.

The former U. S. military governor for Austria anticipates, however, that the Russians may end their negative tactics and accept compromise agreements as the conference nears its deadline of Feb. 25.

He indicated the Soviets may delay until the final week of the parley and then come to partial agreement. He emphasized that the situation is not hopeless.

Clark feels that the unagreed clauses will then be left to the deliberations of the Big Four foreign ministers when they convene in Moscow on March 10.

Object To Two Issues

Clark reported the Soviets are presently objecting to two issues.

One is Russia's insistence on including a clause referring to Austrian war guilt in the treaty preamble. The other is Russian insistence that no reference to "anschluss" be made in the document unless it refers to future German ambitions.

Clark praised the spirit of co-operation of the Western powers.

Two Children Die In Collapse Of 100-Ft. Cliff

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 3.—(INS)—The collapse of a 100-foot cliff, weakened by two days of rain, was blamed today for the deaths of Allison Bieanic 12, and his 3-year-old sister, Judy Ann, at Kirkland, early yesterday.

The sleeping children were buried under tons of mud that crashed into their second-story bedroom into the cellar. The bodies were recovered after 16 hours of frantic digging. A muddy doll owned by Judy was uncovered first.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bieanic, fled from a front bedroom. The father, a war veteran, said they were living in the temporary four-room house under the bluff until he could build another closer to Lake Washington.

Six Weeks More Winter Groundhog Forecasts

Without waiting the official returns from Punxsutawney, where the groundhog is supposed to make his official annual appearance on February 2, we can say without a scintilla of doubt that the furry harbinger of spring saw his shadow yesterday. Not only saw it but wallowed in it from early morning until late afternoon.

Which means, according to the lads and lassies up Punxsutawney way the winter has six more weeks of existence. King Winter gets a six weeks' reprieve and the weather will be cold. Fact is it started right in Sunday evening with a dash of snow and a falling thermometer.

Here in Lawrence county we have to rely upon one of the Punxsutawney groundhog's relations which hibernates in Cascade Park every winter. What the weather was up state, we can't tell but we do know it was sunny enough here yesterday to cast a shadow for anything—vegetable, mineral or animal.

And on top of all that if the winter lasts six more weeks and it isn't any tougher than it has been for the past six weeks there will be some vacant rooms in a lot of Floridian towns.

United States To Stay Aloof In Palestine

Not To Become Involved In Palestine Crisis Is View
At Washington

UNITED NATIONS MAY GET ISSUE

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The United States today was expected to remain aloof from the Palestine crisis as Great Britain prepared to deal with outbursts of violence in the coming week.

May Issue Statement

Washington observers considered it possible however that if terrorism develops in the Holy Land the United States might issue a statement deploring such activity. Officials are known to feel that such events endanger the progress of British-Arab-Zionist talks in London looking to a long-range solution to the problem of Palestine.

Opinion was somewhat divided in official circles on the possibility that Britain might carry the whole question to the United Nations. Some felt that only in this way could Britain get rid of the Palestine mandate given her by the League of Nations.

To United Nations?

Others contended that in the United Nations the matter would be no less complicated and that a long-term solution would be placed even more definitely in the background since so many powers would have to deal with the problem.

It was also regarded as doubtful as to what Russia's position in the United Nations would be on Palestine were the question to be thrown into the world organization.

However, interest was attached to the fact that British Opposition Leader Winston Churchill expressed the opinion that the matter should go to the United Nations unless the United States is willing to share the burdens in cost of maintaining order in the Middle East. His view that Palestine had no strategic value for the empire also aroused interest.

U. S. Not Taking Burden

None could be found in Washington who believe that the United States could be induced to share the burden of administering Palestine. They felt certain that the matter should go to the United Nations unless the United States is willing to share the burdens in cost of maintaining order in the Middle East. His view that Palestine had no strategic value for the empire also aroused interest.

Three San Quentin Prisoners Missing

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Feb. 3.—(INS)—An intensive search was underway today for a trail of San Quentin prison convicts "missing" from their cells since late yesterday afternoon.

An "all-points" bulletin was sent out by Warden Clinton T. Duffy after the trio, Charles H. Adams, 26, Joseph B. Callan, 35, and Gilbert Holmes, 28, all of Los Angeles, could not be located. Duffy also ordered an intensive search of the prison itself in belief that the men were still within the walls.

Adams and Callan were reported missing after the late afternoon routine checkup and Holmes' absence was discovered more than an hour later.

Truman Would Extend Control On Some Items

Asks Congress For One Year
Extension Of Wartime
Controls On Scarce
Commodities

"SUGAR RATIONING MUST CONTINUE"

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—President Truman today asked congress for a one-year extension of wartime government controls on scarce commodities.

The chief executive sent congress a special message in which he requested "immediate and favorable consideration" to limited extension of the second war powers act. The war powers act expires on March 31.

At the same time, Mr. Truman warned that a new national emergency may be ahead for the nation as a result of the war.

The president said that he did not anticipate the occurrence of such an emergency but that one might come.

Asks Renewal

Mr. Truman asked for renewal of government authority over allocations in event of a future national emergency. He said:

"Because of the distortions and uncertainties generated by war conditions, we may encounter a national emergency that we do not now foresee. Although I do not anticipate that such an emergency will occur, it is imperative that the government should have the power, during the remainder of the re-conversion period, to deal with major unforeseen contingencies of this character."

The president asked for continuance of export and import controls on a long list of scarce foods, medicines and industrial articles.

Controls On Sugar

He asked for continuance of controls on sugar, rice, grains and grain products, edible molasses, fats and oils, meat and meat-products, dairy products, peas and beans canned fish and protein foods.

Other commodities included rubber, cinchona bark and cinchona alkaloids, manila, agave fiber and cordage, tin and antimony, the new miracle drug streptomycin, and automobiles and tractors for export.

The president also asked renewal of allocation powers on railroad freight cars and for the use of maritime commission vessels for shipment of personnel of the armed forces and supplies without the restrictive rules of inspection and operation required under peacetime laws.

Refuse Plea To Stay Execution Of Dov Gruner

JERUSALEM, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The Palestine supreme court refused today to stay the execution of Dov Gruner despite the threat of the illegal Jewish underground that "British blood will flow" if he dies on the gallows.

The high court rejected the petition presented by the Irgun Zvai Leumi member's uncle as British women, children and non-essential civilians were evacuating the Holy Land.

Gruner, convicted for taking part in an attack on police station last April, may die tomorrow. It is considered more likely, however, that his execution will not be carried out until the evacuation is completed.

Arthur Mometer

I reckon he saw his shadow, well how could he miss, I ask, it's his only job in the winter time and it isn't much of a task. All he has to do is to wake up and go out and look for the sun, and if it is there, well, he sneaks back his hair and there in a moment he's done. And I reckon that he saw his shadow, and we'll have some more winter, they say, six weeks if the groundhog is right in his job, and it's clear down to forty today.

Colonel Durant's Trial Is Shifted To Washington

Bring 'Master Mind' In Two Million Dollar Hessian Jewel Robbery Home By Plane

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Col. Jack W. Durant, alleged "master mind" in the two million dollar Hessian crown jewel theft, was due in Washington from Germany this afternoon for resumption of his trial.

The war department said the "prison plane" in which Durant is being flown from Frankfurt, originally due early this morning, was held up by bad weather.

The trial was switched temporarily from Frankfurt to Washington to permit persons in America to appear as witnesses.

Among those to be questioned is a Chicago jeweler through whom Durant is declared to have attempted to dispose of the stolen gems.

Wife Given Five Years
Durant's wife and alleged accomplice, Ex-WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant, remains imprisoned in Germany. She was found guilty by a military tribunal and sentenced to dishonorable discharge from the Army and five years imprisonment.

The sensational theft was disclosed last April and the war department announced the arrest of the Durants in June.

The Army charges that the jewels were taken from historic Kronstadt Castle, which had become an officers' club with Capt. Durant as hostess.

Disposed Of Here
Some of the gems were discovered in Chicago and others in Hudson, Wis., where Capt. Durant's sister lives and where the couple spent their honeymoon.

The Durants were returned to Germany to stand trial.

Col. Russell Charlton, president of the seven-man court martial board, trying Durant, arrived in Washington early today. He said the trial would continue in the capital for about a week, and then would switch to Chicago.

Sharon Seeking New Garbage Collectors

SHARON, Feb. 3.—City council has made known the fact that the city intends to get out of the garbage collection business as soon as someone can be found to take over the business. Ever since the city took over the job in 1942 the bureau has run at a deficit.

Since city operations, there have been annual deficits of 12 to 19 thousand dollars. The last operator of the system before the city took over was unable to meet state requirements and thus did not bid for the job at the expiration of his contract.

I, III and V of the second war powers act. Title one deals with emergency powers of the interstate commerce commission over motor and water carriers. Title three establishes priorities, rationing and allocation powers. Title five covers waver of navigation and inspection laws.

Mr. Truman told congress that wartime emergency powers were being rapidly cleared away but that a few controls would be needed for a year longer on "commodities of which the supply is seriously deficient, both domestically and throughout the world, and the affected final products are critically important to industry or the public."

The president warned that if sugar were taken off of rationing that there would be grave danger of runaway prices. Likewise he said that controls should be continued on grains, grain products, rice, fats and oils and numerous other articles which he listed as essential because of their continued critical shortage.

Why Not Slim Down?

Newspapermen everywhere will feel a sort of fellow sympathy for the Government Printing Office which has just announced that an "acute paper shortage" may force it to curtail operations. Newspapers and other periodicals have been struggling with a similar shortage for several years.

Newspapers have been forced to resort to all sorts of expedients, including the rejection of vast quantities of advertising, to get by on their limited supplies of newsprint. They know all about the difficulties of a situation which the Government Printing Office is now considering as a possible threat.

The GPO is considering resort to federal priority powers to obtain enough paper for its needs. But a better solution suggests itself. Why not cut down on the mass of material which flows off the government presses every day?

There is a great deal of material in scores of leaflets and booklets which never would be missed if the government stopped printing it. A prodigious amount of paper is wasted annually putting out government material not worth the ink used to print it.

Nearly every newspaper in the country has been slimmered down by the paper shortage. It is difficult to think of something better and more appropriate for federal publications than a similar reducing course.

Cradle Of War

Russia's interest in extracting a maximum of reparations from Germany has been complicated by the desire to insure a politically friendly Germany. Moving factories to the Soviet Union on a wholesale scale accomplished neither purpose. Consequently, Moscow has switched to the idea of reparations from current production, abandoning opposition to the Anglo-American plan for economic centralization to get the Reich's industries going again.

This has left France, not Russia, as the principal obstacle to the unification of Germany. France has been guided by the overwhelming fear—based on the very real experiences of three invasions—that a new German colossus will arise to wage new wars of conquest, and therefore has held out for a weak, dismembered Reich.

The core of the German problem, as far as France and the world are concerned, is the Ruhr and the Rhineland. The left bank of the Rhine has been a festering sore in the body of Europe since the death of Charlemagne. It has caused wars for a thousand years. It has been the principal arsenal of a perennially predatory Germany. Somewhere between the French demands for outright annexation—which would only sow new dragon's teeth—and returning it intact to a strong Germany, which would make it an arsenal again, world statesmen must now seek a permanent solution.

Giving the Ruhr to any one state has failed miserably in the past. The German solution, if it is to succeed, must be along more modern lines. The Rhine country should either be internationalized or, if it must be fitted into a new German confederation, should be perpetually safeguarded from any tentacles of Prussian control. The latter task would be a huge one.

Inflation Receding?

The statement of Chester Bowles, Henry Wallace, Paul Porter, et al., that we would be in for a boom-bust period after price controls were removed, seems itself to have become "busted."

At least, the Federal Reserve Board doesn't anticipate another inflationary boom at this time, nor in the immediate future. The board has rescinded its order that all transactions on the stock exchanges of the country must be for cash, and it is now permissible that one buy stocks on a 75 per cent margin. That means you can buy a hundred dollars' worth of stock for seventy-five dollars and owe the balance.

The cash trading system of the Federal Reserve Board was adopted several months ago with a view to halting inflation, Board Chairman Marriner S. Eccles says that "it appears that inflation has now largely run its course." Therefore the system of trading on margin has been restored.

Of course, it is doubtful just how much the cash-trading provision accomplished in slowing up inflation. When margins were allowable the customer could buy the stock on a margin, and owe the broker the balance, the latter holding the stock as security. When he had to pay cash he could, of course, no longer borrow from the broker. But a great many traders—how many of them we probably shall never know—got around this provision by borrowing from the banks, and using the stock purchased as security for the loan. So the trader was still doing business on margin except that he owed the bank instead of the broker, and it is difficult to see how this is less inflationary, except that it took a little more time to arrange the loan. But in any event the Reserve Board now believes that the danger of inflation is receding, although of course not entirely over. But prices of some commodities are now going down—including foodstuffs—and this usually foreshadows deflation rather than more inflation.

Of course, raising wages further without increasing production commensurately would spell more inflation, but in general the picture does not look as inflationary now as it did in the days of Chester Bowles and the OPA. That is one fact worth pondering over. The inflation started slowing up soon after price controls were lifted.

WASHINGTON CALLING

'Imperialist' America Myth Must Be Fought

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Eleven billion dollars for defense! That is the figure in the budget for the coming year. It makes every other item look puny indeed.

It dwarfs the $178,000,000 which the Department of State has asked for. Yet our chances for peace in the world depend, in part at least, on the kind of understanding which the State Department can foster.

In the State Department's budget $25,000,000 is set aside for an information program. Never before, as Assistant Secretary of State William Benton pointed out in a recent speech, is it so necessary to do an information job abroad.

Flood of Propaganda From Soviet Russia and from the carriers of communism all over the world, comes a flood of propaganda about the United States. It pictures this country as a nation bent on imperialist aggression. We are shown as a people suffering in the toils of monopoly capitalism, without a chance to escape the doom of collapse and chaos. Our motives are represented, in every instance, as base and selfish.

In some areas of the world—conspicuously Soviet Russia and her satellites in eastern Europe—it is difficult or impossible to counteract this myth. But in western Europe, in Latin America, in the Middle East and in Asia, we can present the true story of America.

We have a magnificent story to tell. One phase of it is our technological genius—our great cities, our fast motor cars, our great network of highways. Something is known of that side already.

Far less is known of the civic and cultural projects that every city is proud of—the symphony orchestras, the little theaters, the vast resources for enjoyment of sports and the out of doors. Even less is known of the practical idealism which has led private philanthropists and the government to spend millions for the betterment of conditions in remote parts of the world, without any thought of return.

No New Boom and Bust As to the stability of our economic system, Congress has taken steps to try to insure that we shall not go through another cycle of boom-and-bust. Those steps may not be adequate, but at least the intention is there and the world should be told about it.

All through the '30's, both inside Germany and throughout Europe, the Nazis spread the falsehood that this country was so weak and divided that we could never fight a war. America was put down as a hopelessly decadent democracy. Perhaps, as Benton pointed out in his speech, if there had been any way to get across the truth about the deep underlying strength and determination of the American people, World War II might never have occurred.

Two Republicans, Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin in the Senate and Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois in the House, have put in bills calling for a department of peace; or, if not a separate department, a division of peace in the State Department. In his speech Benton issued a friendly challenge to the two Republicans:

"Can it be they are kidding the State Department? Or is it that they feel the State Department is so remiss in its obligations that the only hope is new legislation of the type they propose? I am grateful to them for these bills, which may focus the attention of Americans on what the role of their State Department must be."

The gesture of a 'Department of Peace' has been aimed at those groups sincerely troubled over the disparity between the billions appropriated for defense and the minute amount devoted to promoting world understanding. It is hardly more than a gesture—part of the naive belief that we can abolish the troubles that plague the world by using the proper form of words. The State Department can be, in reality, a department of peace if we will only make it so. One of its major assets can be an intelligent information program—a weapon of truth aimed at the distortions diligently and persistently spread in the four corners of the earth.

So pervasive is the myth of an "imperialist" America that now and then we find Americans themselves accepting it as fact. We should refute this myth wherever we find it, at home or abroad, with a positive program of truth.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A Boston woman just won a divorce from her husband on the ground of cruelty.

One of the principal charges: He beat her because she wouldn't reveal the hiding place of her piggy bank.

That is cruelty, indeed. The piggy-bank was not only the woman's rainy-day depository, but in all likelihood it represented a symbol to her.

When people get married, particularly when they live in small quarters, they haven't much individual privacy.

There is an old tradition that marriage makes two people one, and with that antiquated belief goes the presumption that whatever is the husband's is also the wife's and vice versa.

Community property, up to a certain extent, is all right. But, unfortunately, there seems to be also the idea that marriage means also community thinking and community spiritual life.

Men, in their thinking and their spiritual living, are comparatively simple.

No man ever gets very far away from boyhood. Any halfway sensible woman can figure out a man's mental mechanism and see right through it.

No man really fools his wife. Women have weirdly accurate hunches which in more elegant language, are called intuition.

But let any man try to figure out the mental processes of a woman. Let him try it, but he'll never succeed.

Every woman has ever known has a little of the Sphinx about her. Every woman has a part of her life which she never divulges to anybody.

Every woman, no matter how happily married, still carries in her heart the picture of the shining knight whom she expected to marry but never did.

I have been married twenty-five years. My wife knows me thoroughly. It is impossible for me to bluff her.

But do I know my wife? No! Oh, I know Mrs. Brandeis, the woman who takes care of me and of my house; the woman who is a good wife and a practical wife.

But there are a thousand little privacies to which she never admits me. I see it in her eyes every now and then when she doesn't know I am looking.

What is she thinking of? I don't know. And if I asked her she'd answer "Oh, Nothing."

Watch your wife some time and see whether she, too, isn't a thousand miles away from you—on a journey which she insists on traveling alone.

When you catch her on that journey, don't ask her any questions. And never, never break your wife's piggy bank!

Tough Job To Cut President's Budget

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. AS THE time draws nearer for action on the President's $37½-billion-dollar budget, the tougher appears the job of reducing it by any considerable amount. This ought not to surprise anyone. The easiest thing in the whole field of government is to appropriate and spend. Anybody can do it.

ALL one need do is cast aside restraint, disregard the dangers of debt and deficits, ignore the basic and simple rules of arithmetic. It is no trouble at all. We had a wonderful demonstration of that in the nine years of the prewar Roosevelt regime. The trouble comes when the inevitable effort has to be made to recover financial equilibrium and avert disaster. That takes an unusual amount of work, skill and determination. This fact the Republican House and Senate leadership is only now beginning fully to appreciate. It also is beginning to discover that it has overtalked itself on this subject of Federal finance—especially in its loud promises to cut drastically government costs, truly balance the budget and at the same time reduce both taxes and debt.

IT IS now apparent that if the Republicans do all these things—even with the help of the conservative Democrats who want to do them, too—they will have accomplished almost a miracle. Of course, it all can be done if that Truman budget is sufficiently cut—but the cut would have to be really terrific if a tax reduction is to be made at the same time. To carry out in addition, that promise of debt reduction, just about stagger the men who have got to tackle the job. The strain is made greater by other pledges not to "cripple" the national defense, which is the largest item (nearly one third of the total) of all, and the impossibility of cutting the huge veterans expenditures in face of tremendous pressure to increase them.

NEVERTHELESS, there is no doubt whatever that the Truman budget can be substantially reduced. In the second full year of peace it calls for expenditures of $37,500,000,000, which is more than was spent altogether in the four years before the war—when spending was unopposed by lavish and free. It is ridiculous to say that this cannot be trimmed and cut is no answer to those who want to cut to ask whether they want to stop paying interest on the national debt or eliminate national defense. The burden of the proof is not on those who wish to economize. On the contrary, it must be on those who ask for the money. It is up to them to find a way to justify every dollar for which they ask and it is up to Congress to scrutinize every dollar of the proposed expenditures.

THE contention of Senator Harry F. Byrd and others is that there is enough padding in every dollar of the request to permit five billion to be squeezed out without impairing national defense or any other essential government function. To achieve anything like this, the congressional appropriations committees must do a far less perfunctory job than they have ever done before. They must have expert investigators who really know how to investigate and examiners who really know how to cross-examine.

ALTHOUGH a plausible and seemingly sound defense for every proposed expenditure can always be made, the Republicans owe it to the country to accept nothing at its face value. They owe it to themselves as well as to the country to squeeze every unnecessary dollar out of this budget. To do this, they will need not only all the fortitude and ingenuity they have themselves but all the help they can get from any source. The most obvious source would seem to be Senator Byrd. Senator Byrd is not given to reckless statements. Economy in governmental expenditures has long been his specialty.

WHEN he says five billion can be squeezed out of this budget, it is reasonable to assume he knows what he is talking about. It would seem intelligent for the hard-pressed Republicans not to permit him to resign his chairmanship of the Special Economy Committee but to insist on his sticking to the job, saying to him: "All right, Senator Byrd, you say we can squeeze out five billion. Come on now, show us where and how." That would put it up to Senator Byrd in a way that would compel him to respond. Nor need the Republicans feel that in doing that they would lose in credit. On the contrary, they would deserve more credit for being able enough to do the intelligent thing, regardless of politics, in order to gain their extremely vital objective.

CUTTING the budget is the first thing to be done. The question of debt reduction and tax reduction must follow the budget cut, not before. And the budget cutters, ought not to be deterred nor discouraged by the propagandists who already have begun to howl that if this item is touched the national security will disappear or if that item is touched there just is no hope for us at all. There will be an immense amount of this—and it will be accompanied by considerable denunciation of the men who wield the pruning knife. They will be depicted as narrow, ignorant and even unpatriotic. But that is an unavoidable part of the job. They will just have to take it if they are going to get it done.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE WAY OUT

Although one of President Truman's first acts was to recommend to Congress enactment of a law providing for a successor to the vice-presidency upon the vice-president's elevation to the presidency, no legislation has been seriously considered. While the vice-president, except in the earlier years of the Republic, has not occupied a position of major responsibility in the government, proposal in the government of filling the office in such a situation as at present.

The Secretary of States, under the Constitution, in the absence of a vice-president, assumes the Presidency in the event of the death or disability of the President. The catch in this, however, is that the Secretary of State is not elected by the people, but appointed by the President. This a presidential appointee might not be either representative nor generally acceptable to the people.

Mr. Truman proposed that the Speaker of the House become vice-president in case of a vacancy in the office. The House was willing, but the Senate wanted its president pro tem to have the honor. This joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives has kept the issue in the background. Some curious suggestions have developed in the meantime. Representative Monroney of Oklahoma would have us elect two vice-presidents, in order to have a "spare" on hand, so to speak. Representative Kunkel of Pennsylvania goes him one better by suggesting a corps of three second-vices—something like our big Banks. How either two or three vice-presidents would decide their respective ratings the proponents of these plans do not say.

One way out of the difficulty might be to have the House and Senate in joint session ballot on a vice-president, with the honor going to the majority nominee. This would give the party enjoying the majority the right of choice, which would be democratic in principle, and positively work for harmony between the legislative and executive branches.

In any event, the new Congress doubtless will be asked by Mr. Truman to make some provision for a vice-president—a thing that ought to be done as a matter of national stability in the event of a vacancy in the executive post.

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

Belated justice today found two former high-ranking Nazi judges toward the rock pile sentenced not by any international tribunal but by fellow-Germans they so befriended.

One was Heinrich Hoffman, an undeniably clever man with a camera, whose magic lens gave Adolf Hitler's face that "be kind to babies" look.

The other was Hans Fritzsche, given a clean bill of health by the Nuremberg tribunal only to walk into fresh trouble at the hands of a German denazification court operating under Allied supervision.

Hoffman was sentenced to ten years at hard labor; Fritzsche to nine.

There is something strange and still unexplained in previous Allied adjudication of the Hoffman and Fritzsche cases. Hoffman never was indicted by international courts, and Fritzsche was acquitted along with Franz Von Papen and Hjalmar Schacht in Nuremberg last fall to the everlasting surprise of almost everyone.

Yet Hoffman's close association with Hitler from way, way back was common knowledge. And equally well known was the fact that Fritzsche was the modulating factor between Paul Joseph Goebbels' screaming voice and popular reception to Nazi ideology on the German radio.

The people of Germany under Nazism listened to Goebbels because they had to. They tuned into Fritzsche because he had a melodious approach and made good listening.

Both Hoffman and Fritzsche were tangled and intertwined with the vicious fabric of Hitlerism from the earliest beginnings.

Eva Braun, whom Hitler married in an underground and subterranean ceremony just before their suicides, started her own career as a saleswoman—perhaps a "come-on" would be an apter term—in Hoffman's Berlin photographic studio.

It was there that the Fuehrer first met his future companion when he found that all the elite cameramen of the German capital, Hoffman was most adept in transforming his India-rubber nose and floppy mouth into something like the face of a knight in shining armor.

United States military authorities used Hoffman, and encountered severe criticism in doing so instead of sending him to jail. Their explanation was that Hoffman had knowledge of and access to photographs and microfilms of enormous importance in unraveling the incredible criminology of the whole Nazi regime.

Apparently his usefulness ended when he was turned over to a German court, and now he is on his way to hard labor.

Fritzsche also served some purpose. For in his only and day out appearances in the dock at Nuremberg his displayed evidence to the manner in which Nazism was able to corrupt completely even well-born and well-educated persons such as himself.

His only excuse always was that he did merely what Goebbels told him to do and his only satisfaction at that he had an audience when he spoke. The German courts have decided that the things he said were the wrong things to say. He has nine years with a sledge-hammer to ponder upon his past and forgotten broadcasts.

Five-Point Plan Aimed To Sustain U. S. Oil Supply

Hope To Conserve Oil In Face Of Great Russian Petroleum Potential

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The senate special petroleum committee has advanced a five-point program to sustain dwindling U. S. oil supplies in the face of a great Russian oil potential.

The committee filed an exhaustive report covering its activities since its inception in March, 1944. The recommended program called for:

1. Legislation to stimulate oil exploration and development in the United States, as well as encouragement of conservation.
2. Government promotion of research into synthetic fuels without competition with private industry.
3. Tax reforms "to restore the incentives for the risk of private capital in new ventures."
4. Disclosure to the government of the terms, conditions and obligations under which American companies undertake to carry on the petroleum industry abroad.
5. "A foreign policy designed to promote full development of the petroleum resources of the whole world for the benefit of all the peoples of the world."

Discoveries Increase
The report stated that American oil discoveries had decreased in size and importance, while foreign discoveries had multiplied. It said: "The best evidence available at the moment would indicate that the land area of Russia is a greater potential source of petroleum than continental United States."

The committee reported that while less than one-third of the world's proved oil resources lay in this country today, more than 63 percent of all petroleum produced between 1850 and 1941 was drawn from U. S. deposits.

During the past ten years, the report continued, discoveries of new fields in the United States have decreased in size and importance, average discoveries scarcely exceeding two million barrels of recoverable oil.

Comparatively, 300 fields discovered abroad in the 20 years preceding 1943 showed an average ultimate yield of about 100 million barrels each.

Worth Chance

The report pointed out that while the risk and magnitude involved in foreign operations required the financial powers of the larger companies, both large and small producers, refiners and distributors should be encouraged domestically. The report called attention to the increasing domestic and world consumption of oil and to the disparity between North American consumption per capita and the rest of the world.

Per capita consumption of petroleum in the United States and Canada in 1938 was 353 gallons, while Australia and New Zealand consumed 122 gallons per person, and all of Asia only showed a four gallon per capita consumption.

The committee reported that in 1938 domestic requirements of petroleum, both military and civilian, were 3,115,000 barrels per day, which increased during the war to a top of 4,980,000 barrels per day in July, 1945.

Forecasts reported estimated daily demand of 5,735,000 barrels after 1950.

The report stated that the need for oil in national defense was a foregone conclusion and that World War II was largely won with American oil.

Truman Is Neutral On Subject Of Cats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—President Truman discloses that he is neutral on the subject of cats.

The president said there are some four-legged cats and added humorously he supposed that there are some two-legged cats.

But, Mr. Truman said, he is neutral on the subject.

The cat discussed came up at the chief executive's news conference when a reporter remarked that the cat lovers of the nation were up in arms because the president was supposed to have made some assertion at an off-the-record dinner about cats.

What the president said at that dinner was that in his many duties as chief executive he receives many strange requests, among them letters asking him to endorse or declare days or weeks of national observance.

Mr. Truman said he had received letters asking him to declare national laugh week and national cat week, among many others.

The president said that in the first place his remarks had been off the record and certainly were not intended to be derogatory toward cats or anyone else.

He said that in any event he is neutral on the subject of cats.

The ancient Romans believed that a man actually could transform himself into a wolf, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. The superstition was called lycanthropy.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—This is one of the big days of the year for Harry Lichtig. You've probably never heard of him, but he's a big shot in film circles.

He was Hollywood's first actor's agent. He opened his office on February 3, 1919, just 28 years ago.

He originally came to Hollywood from New York City as business manager for Clara Kimball Young.

Gave Valentino Chance
Harry's first client was Wallace Berry, who's still at the top of the heap. He gave Rudolph Valentino his first chance in movies. He arranged for Bing Crosby's debut on the screen, in two reels for Mack Sennett. He discovered Gary Cooper.

Harry is one of the people who have helped make movies the fine entertainment they are today. It's an anniversary, but just another day for work for Harry.

What, No Women
Theater audiences accustomed to seeing Humphrey Bogart make his tough brand of love to such lovelies as his wife, Lauren Bacall, Elizabeth Scott, Ingrid Bergman and Barbara Stanwyck are due for a shock when his next projected picture hits the screen.

It's a Warner opus called "Treasure of the Sierra Madre" and there isn't a single woman in the cast.

It's a very brutal story of what the discovery of gold does to one man, the said Bogart.

Very probably the company, which will include Walter Huston, will go on location in Mexico, possibly near Tampico, but that isn't certain yet.

"I hope not," said Boney, who isn't much of a camper either.

Look to Vacations
John Garfield is going to make one more picture after completing "Body and Soul" for Enterprise, and then he's going to take a four-month vacation.

"The biggest kick will be a tour of Europe," John told your reporter, "the Missus is now in New York arranging passage. We hope to sail for England August 15. We'll also visit France, Sweden, Switzerland, and possibly Norway, Italy."

Charles Boyer leaves for Paris in mid-summer, later than he expected, but he definitely won't make a picture over there till next year.

Charles is just finishing his starring role in "Arch of Triumph."

"I have another picture commitment which I must do before I go abroad," he explained. "I'm going to make the arrangements this summer so I can do the picture next year."

Pomona Grange To Convene Saturday
Lawrence County Pomona grange will assemble Saturday, February 8, at East New Castle grange hall.

The business session will begin at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, while the program will start at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Luncheon will be served by women of the host grange. Pomona Master William H. McCullough will preside at the assembly.

Mahogany was chosen during the war for planes and fast boats like the famous PTs, largely because of its unusual resistance to insects and organisms of decay, which were important factors for a wood to be used in water and the tropics. These characteristics also make mahogany an ideal cabinet wood.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kind of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan, of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at

Completing Flags To Drape Caskets Of World War Dead

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—Ninety Philadelphia women are turning out the largest single order of American interment flags in the Nation's history.

At the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, expert seamstresses are hard at work on an assignment that calls for the production of 169,000 additional copies of the Stars and Stripes, which are to be used to drape the caskets of fallen heroes of World War II.

The interment flags, made of high-grade mercerized cotton, duplicate in size the regulation United States storm flag which floats over American military posts, camps, and stations; government buildings; and American embassies all over the world. The flag is five feet wide, nine feet five inches long. All of the stripes of the flag and the stars of the field are individually sewn.

It is anticipated that 240,000 flags will be required. About 70,000 storm flags are now available and the remainder are under process of manufacture.

Flying squirrels move at dusk or in the night and are seldom seen, although quite numerous.

Pfc. R. M. Pinkerton Makes Rome Visit

Lawrence County Soldier Serving In Europe Makes Sight-Seeing Tour Of Rome

(Special To The News)

ROME, Jan. 22.—Pfc. Robert M. Pinkerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Pinkerton, of New Castle, R. D. 2, spent four days in Rome recently on a sightseeing tour of the city.

On furlough from the First Infantry division in Bad Tolz, Germany, Pfc. Pinkerton toured Vatican City, had an audience with the Pope, was conducted through the Catacombs of St. Calixtus and St. Sebastian, and visited the Coliseum where ancient Rome enjoyed gladiatorial shows and races. He also saw many other outstanding attractions of this scenic and historic city.

"The architecture of Rome," declared Pinkerton, "is surprisingly modern. Here one is impressed by the modernness of a city which includes such an abundance of the ancient."

After his four-day visit here, Pfc. Pinkerton returned to his station in Europe by way of Switzerland. He has been overseas ten months.

ANDERSON-BROWN WEDDING AT HOME

Before a fireplace banked with ferns in the living room of her home by candlelight Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Dorothy Marie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Anderson of 110 East Garfield avenue, became the bride of Ralph Ray Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Brown of 1712 East Washington street.

In the glow of white tapers in crystal holders on the mantel, Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of 60 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a crepe dress of desert rose, with it a small brown ribbon and veiling hat, and brown accessories. Her corsage was of white roses and white mums. Her only jewelry was a diamond lavallere. As her attendant her sister, Mrs. Jack Toohy, wore a pearl grey jersey dress with pink roses and white mums. Gerald Brown served his brother as best man.

Recordings of "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" were played as a musical prelude to the wedding procession. Following the ceremony refreshments were served to the bridal party at a table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Guests were served buffet style with Miss Marjorie Logan, Mrs. Lester Black, Mrs. Jack Umson, Mrs. Dale Anderson, Mrs. Woods Anderson and Miss Shirley June Waters as aids.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Cleveland and will take up residence here after February 6 with the bride's parents for the time being.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown are graduates of New Castle high school. She was employed at the United Engineering & Foundry Co. prior to her marriage. Mr. Brown, a veteran of 27 months' service overseas with the U. S. navy, is employed at the Pennsylvania Power company.

Market Glutted By Potato Crop

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The 1946 bumper potato crop has glutted the market in Pennsylvania with 7,570,000 bushels beyond usual commitments. It was reported today by the Department of Agriculture.

Increased use of potatoes was urged by the department "to relieve exceptionally large holdings." Last year the Pennsylvania crop amounted to 20,066,000 bushels, or 3,500,000 more than were produced in 1945, the department added.

The 1946 yield was made despite a seven per cent reduction in potato acreage and the department indicated a five per cent cut would be made in 1947.

The national stockpile of merchantable potatoes as of January 1 contained 150,230,000 bushels, or 25 per cent more than at the close of 1945.

of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson and Falls streets.

At the conclusion of the review,
Dr. Irvine was chosen as chairman of a committee to be formed to call a public mass meeting on the prob-

Paul Graham, new minister of the Third U. P. church. Rev. R. B.

layman from Butler county.

The radio committee reported that

Colder Weather May Be On Way

(By International News Service)
The weatherman today promised slightly warmer weather for western Pennsylvania but warned of possibly more snow and cold within the next few days.

Meanwhile, motorists found it tough going particularly in the mountains where one to seven inches of snow fell over the week end. Icy highways and deep drifts made motoring hazardous.

The weatherman said a new snow storm was moving in to the area from the midwest and would be followed by sub-zero weather.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

youngster at any time and hand him about as if he were a bon bon to taste, a rose to smell, or a toy for their amusement. This infant is a very sensitive little creature, who needs to be let alone most of the time, not disturbed or needlessly excited.

The biggest problem facing nearly every mother of the tiny infant is to manage herself and stick rigidly to a plan and program. If the baby complains and cries a bit when put into his bassinet after being fed, she is tempted to pick him up and carry or teeter him. Practically always then this treatment will be immediately satisfying to him. "It works," she may say to herself.

May Demand More
But she also may fail to realize that even though he is only a few days or few weeks old, he easily can come to demand more and more to be taken up, toted or teetered.
Yes, he is a creature of habit, a fact that even some child specialists seem to ignore. Good or bad habits in the infant may be established in him before he is two or three weeks old.

Of course, it is well to make sure his clothing is properly adjusted for his comfort. Also right after eating, he may have a bit of gas on his tummy. If the little tyke is held up against the shoulder of the mother and patted very gently on the back (very, very gently, of course) the gas may escape. But it takes a vast deal of mother-skill to "bump" the baby just enough.
Some mothers will keep at it unduly long or take him up repeatedly for this purpose. Before they know it he is bounced about so much that a lot more real or imaginary gas is created.

Then the young mother may suppose the "poor little dear" didn't have enough food and may give him more and more and still more later. It is so easy to develop nuisance habits in him.

When you decide to let him cry
—perhaps you won't be sure to remain in easy hearing distance to prevent possible suffocation. If after sticking to this plan for several days you don't see any improvement, you should consult your physician. My bulletin, "A Baby Has Arrived," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y. If my advice conflicts with that of your doctor, follow him.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

"My son will soon marry a lovely girl of whom we all approve. The hitch is that the wedding will take place at our home and I don't know how to word the invitations. Will you please tell me how this should be done?"

Answer: Your letter has me baffled for the reason that your plans are contrary to wedding tradition.
Regardless of the modest circumstances in which the bride lives and the luxurious circumstances of the groom, the wedding should always be given by the family of the bride. If her home is too small for the purpose, she should either marry in church and hold her reception in a public building or marry without fanfare.

Invitations and announcements are always issued by the bride's family. If she has no parents or older sister or brother to take care of this, an uncle, aunt, cousin or close family friend usually lends his or her name for the occasion, even though he or she bears no responsibility—financial or otherwise. So much for tradition.

In extreme cases, wherein the bride has no home and few funds and the groom's family has the necessities to provide both, it is allowable for them to "take over." But the invitations are even then, issued in the name of someone on the bride's side. Even this is a violation of strict wedding etiquette and is permissible only in the most unusual circumstances.

If your future daughter-in-law has no one to sponsor her wedding, she might send, instead of the usual engraved invitations, short, informal notes, such as: "Bill and I are to be married on Saturday, February eighth at Bill's home (address). We both would like you to come and wish us luck" adding any personal appropriate remark. The only alternative is formal invitations sent out by you, thus:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones request the honour of your presence at the marriage of Miss Barbara Anne Porter
to their son
John Jones—etc. etc.
which, you will admit, is extremely awkward and not in the best of taste.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Council Gets Report On Proposals For New Taxation

During the conference of mayors of third-class cities, held last week in Harrisburg, it was decided by the mayors to have presented to the legislature a bill which would give municipalities more revenue through imposition of a one-cent tax upon cigarettes and gasoline, to be collected and distributed by the state, and also a tax on amusements.

This was the report of Mayor
John F. Haven and Property Director Joseph D. Alexander to Council Monday.

The mayor said that Gov. Duff addressed the mayors' session and acknowledged that real estate was carrying all the taxation it could stand.

Twigs, buds and catkins are important foods for the ruffed grouse in January. Dense growth of pine and hemlock provide cover.

According to an ancient law of Great Britain, a person must go to church on foot. Otherwise the local constable can confiscate the vehicle and sell it for the indigent of the parish.

Peaches are said to have been introduced into the New World by Spanish explorers.

BLAINE STREET PAVING IS ASKED

Property Owners Between Wallace And Lincoln Ask Paving; Council Notes

Property owners on Blaine street, between Lincoln and Wallace avenues, on Monday requested council to have that section paved with asphalt. The property owners agreed in the petition to pay their share in cash for the improvement. Director Alexander stated that the city would have paved it years ago had there been no opposition. Council indicated the improvement is favored.

Arranging Licenses

Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander today told council he had prepared a form for the licensing of concessions at Cascade Park this year. Some will pay a straight price for the privilege of operating concessions and others will guarantee the city a certain price, with the privilege of the city accepting a percentage if the gross receipts exceed the guarantee.

Ask Conference

Relative to the proposed advertisement for bids for a filter system at Cascade Park, council directed Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander to request C. H. Young, one of the state's health engineers to confer here with council, according to plans for the system.

City Gets Receipts

Officials of the City of the Third Class has notified the city council that it had received a check for $401, representing 'this city's' membership dues. Local officials stated they felt the membership in the league was worthwhile and expected good results this year. The city also received a notice of receipt of $2,000, by the War Assets Administration for OOD equipment purchased by the city. City Clerk Jack H. Fritz was instructed by council to note the acknowledgment of the $2,000, on council's records.

Robot Cashier Shown At Exhibit

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(INS)—A revolutionary type robot cashier was unveiled in Chicago today at the coin machine industries convention and display.

The machine was developed by the Guardian Electric Manufacturing Co. of Chicago.

F. F. Rowell, company president said the cashier would make possible the vending of a variety of merchandise from one automatic machine at pre-determined prices.

The robot, named the Computit, will receive and return correct change in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters.

The Computit is not a vending machine in itself. Rowell said that use of the robot and automatic vending machines by self-service stores might eliminate waiting at a cashier's desk.

He said that such items as ties, tooth paste, cigarettes, tooth brushes, papers, slippers, razors, package hosiery, drug sundries, etc., eventually might be sold in vending machines—with the Computit as a mechanical cashier.

In the first half of the 1946 civilian consumption of gasoline in the U. S. was 5 per cent higher than the 1941 period.

Murder Conviction Of Youth Of 17 Is Set Aside By Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The Supreme Court today set aside the murder conviction of Rene de Meeler who at the age of 17 and without aid of counsel was swiftly tried and sentenced by the Michigan courts.

De Meeler has been serving a life term for the shooting of a gasoline station attendant in Lenawee county, Mich.

In a brief unanimous opinion, the high court said:

"Under the holdings of this court, petition was deprived of rights essential to a fair hearing under the Federal constitution."

The Supreme Court noted that the 17-year-old defendant was confronted by "a serious and complicated criminal charge" and "hurried through unfamiliar legal proceedings without a word being said in his defense."

The court added "At no time was assistance of counsel offered or mentioned to him, nor was he apprised of the consequences of his plea."

Burglars Fail In Efforts To Open Boyd Dairy Safe

Several Reports Of Minor Robberies Reach Police Over
Weekend

Following several nights inactivity, safe burglars Saturday night attempted but failed to break into the office safe at the Boyd Dairy, 1090 Butler avenue, according to police headquarters.

They hammered off the knob of the combination, but were unable to successfully drive in a drift pin, which would permit opening the safe, which was badly damaged.

The attempted burglary was discovered by Harry Boyd at 7 a. m. Sunday.

Several other places were entered Saturday night, but the results were meagre for burglars.

Other Robbery Reports
One dollar and fifty cents was stolen from DiCarlo's poultry market, 1007 South Mill street. A window was broken which permitted the theft.

Davis Provision company, Produce street, was entered by forcing a door, according to a report. Nothing was found to have been stolen.

A cellar window permitted an entry at the New Lunch, East Long avenue, but the burglars failed to gain entrance to the lunch room.

An attempt which proved unsuccessful was made to force open the door at the Eakin service station Sunday night.

VANDALS CUT WIRES IN PARKED AUTOS

Baruch Called For Testimony

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—Bernard Baruch who laid the foundation of American policy on atomic bomb control was called today to tell the senate what he thinks of the new atomic energy commission.

The elder statesman's appearance before senate members of the joint atomic committee was expected to elicit a frank appraisal of progress on both domestic and world control of nuclear energy.

One senator said he hoped to have Baruch discuss "the whole problem of international control."

Specifically however the adviser of both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman was asked to give his views on the appointment of David E. Lilienthal former TVA chairman to head the atomic commission as well as on the selection of the other four commissioners and a general manager.

Deny Motions To Dismiss Trials Of Tojo And Others

TOKYO, Feb. 3.—(INS)—Dismissal motions filed by attorneys for "Pearl Harbor Premier" Hideko Tojo and 25 other Japanese war-time leaders were denied by the international war crimes tribunal in Tokyo today.

The tribunal then adjourned for three weeks to allow American and Japanese defense attorneys time to prepare the case for their clients who are charged with war crimes against the Allies.

Tribunal President, Sir William Webb of Australia, announced the denial of the motions. He said that after due consideration of the motion—which were based on grounds of duress—the tribunal finds they were not well founded and are therefore overruled.

Two Firemen Retire

Above is shown William D. "Scottie" Scott, of 123 North Crawford avenue, who hung up his fireman's hat Saturday, never to put it on again as a member of the department here.

Underneath is John W. "Jack" Clarke, of 628 South Ray street, who has been enjoying his retirement from the department for the past month. He is pictured in his home, reading his Bible.

Together the two have been fighting fires in New Castle for more than a century. Clarke started his career as a fireman as a member of the old G. W. Johnson Hose and Chemical company in 1892. Scott began as a member of the old Holton Hose company, later known as the Phillips Hose company, and now Hose Company No. One, also a volunteer organization.

In 1903, Clarke became a member of the paid fire department and for most of his life has been stationed at No. Four Engine house, on Ray street. He recalls when the station house was built in 1896. For many years after he joined the department, Ray street was unpaved and many a time the horses which pulled the fourth ward firewagon would drag the heavy wagon through mud up to the horses' knees to get to the scene of a blaze. Then when Ray street was paved around 1906 things were a little easier.

Scott became a member of the paid department in May 6, 1907, when he joined the Central department. He then worked vacations until given a permanent assignment. During his career he has worked at every fire station in the city, finishing at Croton, where he was first permanently assigned.

Both are planning to take things easy during the rest of their lives but will pick up their ears with eagerness when they hear the fire whistle blow because they will know their younger comrades are in there, doing their best to protect the property of the citizens of New Castle from destruction by fire.

Strike Of 18 Ties Up 2,000 Workers

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 3.—(INS)—More than 2,000 workers remained idle today at the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation's Aliquippa plant as a result of a "wildcat" strike by 18 intra-plant railroads workers, now in the third day.

At the same time, J. & L. officials were scheduled to meet today with the CIO-United Steelworkers in a negotiating conference which was expected to bring an extension of the existing wage contract to April 30. An extension would follow a pattern previously laid down by the union and the U. S. Steel Corp.

The strike by the 18 plant railroad workers, members of the steelworkers union, began Saturday and shut down five open hearth and three Bessemer converters. The workers, who haul hot metal from the furnaces, walked out in a dispute over safety measures.

COMBINATION
Ham and chicken, both cooked, make an interesting combination when tossed into a creamy sauce and served atop hot cornbread slices, buttered biscuits or toasted rusks. They can form the main course of dinner, supper or luncheon menu.

The resurrection plant is a small herb, native of Arabia, Iran and Egypt, but found in America from New Mexico to Peru. In the dry season the leaves fall off and the branches curve inward. When wetted it takes on, for a time, the appearance of a live plant.

Angry Seas Lash

Royal Battleship

ABOARD H. M. S. VANGUARD IN ATLANTIC, Feb. 3.—(INS)—Angry seas lashed by an Atlantic gale continued to make the voyage of the royal family wretched today as they approached the Canary Islands.

The Battleship Vanguard, which is carrying the king, the queen and the two princesses to South Africa, was forced to alter its course ten points in the teeth of a gale sweeping from the south.

The Vanguard was to be met by Portuguese warships off the Portuguese coast today in a passing salute to the English royalty.

Ship Runs Aground At Cordova, Alaska

CORDOVA, Alaska, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The 4500-ton, 350-foot S. S. Alaska limped into Cordova yesterday with a damaged prow and 20 feet of water in her forward hold after running aground in Prince William Sound.

Her 90 passengers and 100 crew members were reported safe.

Capt. Roy Selig said a 40-mile wind drove the northbound steamer against a rock in Orga Inlet early yesterday. She was freed before the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Wachusett arrived on the scene, five miles south of Cordova.

WEST MIDDLESEX, Feb. 3.—Extension of the West Middlesex sewer system is provided for in the borough's budget of $15,338 for the year 1947, which is on display at the borough building. The budget will come up for final approval on February 10.

Envoy Novikov Declares Groups Hope For New War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3.—(INS)—Soviet Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov left a warning in Miami Beach that "some political groups" are propagandizing a new world war. Novikov directly named Winston Churchill as "one of those who come forward openly or in disguise with projects of organizing blocs and federations against the Soviet Union."

In a speech last night before the Miami chapter of the American Soviet Friendship league, the Russian ambassador said he was confident "that the shadow which has lately been darkening relations between the U. S. and Russia is not the reflection of the real estate of affairs."

Novikov added: "The sense of anxiety and fear of a new war which demonstrated during 1946 were not so much feelings expressed by our peoples as the result of activities of some political groups."

"These groups are deliberately propagandizing a new war and sowing uncertainty so they can fish in troubled waters."

Plan To Spend Millions On New
Ore Experiments*Dwindling Supplies Of Good Ore Forces Steel Firm To Begin Great Research Plan

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3.—(INS)—A mining company which brought the first ore from the great Minnesota Misabi Range, today planned to spend $34 million to make possible greater use of low-grade ore in the steel industry's blast furnaces.

The Oliver Mining Company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel Corp., announced plans to make the multi-million dollar expenditure for new equipment and processing plants to supplement dwindling supplies of high-grade ore.

It has been estimated that the better ore—more than 50 per cent pure—in the Misabi range will be exhausted in 20 to 30 years.

By its expenditure the mining company hopes to build processing plants to put the "pay dirt" through a heavy density process by which good iron and ore goes to the bottom of a container and the impurities to the top.

Then, the company said, it can ship an ore to mills which, instead of being only 35 to 40 per cent iron, will be 50 to 56 per cent pure.

To Speed Operations

The purified ore will speed blast furnace operations, save wear and tear on blast furnaces and make better steel more economically.

The process will be a vast improvement on the present one in which low-grade iron ore is merely put through a washing process.

The late Henry W. Oliver, founder of the company, was the first Pittsburgher to bring ore from Minnesota to Pittsburgh's furnaces.

He "ditched" a political convention in Minneapolis in 1892 to make a dash to the ore fields at Duluth when he heard of the first ore train leaving the Misabi range.

Oliver rode through the wilderness to the camp of the seven Merritt Brothers, discoverers of the ore.

The Merritts showed Oliver millions of tons of the red colored mineral. He leased a mine and founded the Oliver Mining Company, becoming first president.

Since 1892, millions of tons of iron ore have been shipped to Pittsburgh to feed the furnaces of the nation's principal steel producer.

In the department contest, the Cradle Roll Department whose superintendent is Miss Ethel Moore was the leader with 100% attendance. The Young Peoples Department was a close second.

This year's contest is based in the case of classes on 1946 average attendances and in case of the departments the 1946 average since promotion day in the fall.

Expect Sale Of Big Little Inch Pipeline By WAA

To Open Bids February 8
For The Purchase Of $146,000,000 Worth
Of Lines

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn is expected to sell the government's big and little inch pipelines for the transmission of both petroleum and natural gas.

Authoritative circles reported that major bidders have indicated their offers for purchase of the 146 million dollar pipelines are along the following lines:

1. Use of the little inch, which extends 1,475 miles from Beaumont, Tex., to Linden, N. J., for petroleum and petroleum products.

2. Use of the big inch, which extends 1,340 miles from Longview, Tex., to Linden, N. J., for natural gas as far as the border of Pennsylvania. From there on the line would remain idle until a right of transit could be obtained across the state.

To Open Bids February 8

Littlejohn has announced he will open the bids February 8, but attempts were underway in Congress to force a delay.

The Senate armed services committee was called into executive session today to reconsider an earlier motion tabling a proposal to postpone sale for 90 days. The House interstate and foreign commerce committee has delayed action on similar resolutions pending a decision by the Senate group.

Sources close to Littlejohn declared that the WAA Administrator was determined to proceed with the sale February 8 unless either body of Congress overwhelmingly voted to delay it.

Under the surplus property act, Littlejohn is free to sell the pipelines after February 3 unless both the House and Senate adopt a concurrent resolution rejecting a proposal he submitted earlier this month for disposal of the surplus properties.

Provisions Cited

The proposal, included in a supplementary report to Congress January 3, provides that bidders may purchase the lines (1) transmission of petroleum or (2) natural gas and (3) a combination of the two.

The sale contract will include a clause, however, that will permit the government to take possession of the lines within 90 days in the event of an emergency for petroleum use.

Sale of the pipelines for natural gas is being opposed chiefly by the United Mine Workers, anthracite operators in Pennsylvania, and northeastern coal-carrying railroads on the theory that the lower-cost fuel would reduce the consumption of hard coal. Pennsylvania authorities have stated they will not permit use of the lines in their state for natural gas.

The government built the pipelines during the war to carry petroleum. The agreement providing for transit across Pennsylvania limited their use to petroleum and its products.

SEWING BOX IS AID IN GARMENT MAKING

In choosing a sewing box, be sure it is large enough to contain needed equipment and also provide space for the garment being made, remind the home economics extension representatives in clothing work at the Pennsylvania State college. A well-equipped box speeds the progress of sewing.

Besides the pins kept in a box, a few should be in a pin cushion for immediate use. If there is a shortage of pins, weights may be used to hold a pattern in place while cutting.

Needles of the correct size are essential. If they are to stay bright, they must be kept in the black paper in which they come and the package kept closed. An emergency bag is handy for polishing needles that become rough or rusty.

If a new tape measure is needed for the sewing box, be sure to select one with numbers printed on both sides, starting at one end on one side and on the other end of the opposite side. Thus, measuring can be started with either end that is picked up.

Since dull instruments hinder the progress of work, keep all shears and scissors sharp so that they will cut smoothly and easily from heel to points of the blades. Oil shears and scissors occasionally.

Other useful items in the sewing box are tailor's chalk, basting thread and thread in different colors for making tailor's tacks. Use No. 60 thread for sewing. With more materials and better quality materials available this spring many homemakers will be interested in sewing and will find the sewing box a real help.

Stream Clearance Work Is Praised

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3.—(INS)—The Allegheny County sanitary authority today had won praise from the state sanitary water board for progress in solving what was termed "the most difficult engineering project in the country" in stream clearance throughout the Pittsburgh area.

First phase of the authority's task was virtually completed. The water board stated, with ninety-five municipalities of 102 signing agreements in the clean-up program. The remaining seven have employed engineers to study the problems involved.

Next step will be actual construction of 100 miles of sewer lines along the rivers and tributaries to pick up sewage now being discharged directly into the Ohio, Monongahela and Allegheny rivers.

The state board stated that "to reach the present stage meant a big job of organization, engineering surveys, sampling and analyzing thousands of samples."

The first pantomime produced in England was at Drury Lane in 1702. It was called "The Tavern Builders."

SWEET AS SUGAR

Sugar seems to be a very popular food. It is valuable too. A spoonful of sugar supplies about 100 calories of nourishment.

It is very quickly digested and made use of by the body. Sometimes in our public eating places sugar is served in a very insanitary way.

The public sugar bowl is not a good way to serve it. When on who has a cold puts his spoon in the common sugar bowl and the next person to use it gets some of his germs.

Public sentiment against it will do away with the public sugar bowl. If you object to the common sugar bowl perhaps other people will object too. Then it will vanish.

Hints On Etiquette

If a guest invited to a dinner, and who has accepted the invitation, finds he cannot possibly attend, he should immediately notify his hostess, even if it is the day before the affair is given. She may then invite another in his place, writing an informal note explaining the circumstances and saying she knows of no one she would rather have as substitute than he.

Westminster Defeats Waynesburg 58 To 55 In Thriller Saturday

Jackets Extend Titan Passers On Home Court

Chuckling Chet Dembinski And Don Heddleston Top Scorers For Titans In 14th Win

PLAY AT THIEL SATURDAY NIGHT

(By News Staff Writer)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 3.—Staving off a last minute desperate rally by a hard-fighting and sharp-shooting Waynesburg college Yellow Jacket five, the Westminster Titans eked out a 58 to 55 triumph here Saturday night for their 14th victory of the season against two defeats.

Westminster, winners over the Jackets at Waynesburg a few weeks ago 57 to 46 had expected an easy evening, instead they had to battle right down to the wire after leading the first half 31 to 23, the only period being the second in which the Grover Washbaugh flippers had the advantage.

Waynesburg started out fast and had a 5 to 2 lead in the first two minutes. The first period ended 13 to 10, the score being tied three times in the session. The lead saw-sawed back and forth in the early stages of the second stanza, finally being tied at 20-20 with five minutes to play. The Titans opened up with a fast offensive attack led by Heddleston and Dembinski and drew away to an eight-point lead at half-time.

Jackets Close Gap
In the third period the visitors started closing the gap. With a little over five minutes of the period gone the score was deadlocked at 37-37 when Stough flipped in two fouls.

Waynesburg led the third period 18 to 13, the score standing at 44 to 41 as the stanza ended with the Titans clinging to a three-point lead, which they were destined to have at the end of the game.

Titans Desperate
It was a desperate Westminster team that began the fourth and final period. After five minutes or one-half of the period was over the score was tied at 49-49. Tommy Jones put the Titans ahead with a foul to make it 50 to 49 and the Titans went on from there to take it, but had the "gim-jams" in the final seconds when the Waynesburg team fought back from a 58 to 51 count to drop in two quick field goals but the hands on the clock beat them to it.

Dembinski Scoring Star
"Chuckling Chet" Dembinski, the tall Titan pivot man, and one of the leading scorers in the state, ran his total to 209 as he made 16 points to be the top scorer in the battle, and to further increase his lead in the tri-state district. Dembinski had six field goals and four fouls.

Don Heddleston was his old self Saturday night, the East Liverpool flash getting 15 points on six field goals and three fouls. Next in line on the Titan team was Freddy Payne, with nine points and showing a great defensive spirit.

Stough was the outstanding performer for Waynesburg on defense.

but was tied by Ziarko for top scoring honors with 15 points apiece, and incidentally the visitors had two more field goals than the Titans. Westminster's advantage was at the foul line, getting 18 out of 25 free throws through the hoops, although their percentage was not as good as the Waynesburgs in this respect, the visitors getting 11 out of 16 tries in the basket.

Play Thiel Next
Waynesburg had three men, Stough, Ziarko and Jennings, in the double-figure bracket, the latter caging ten points. Waynesburg's only disadvantage was in height, the Titans towering over their smaller adversaries. If Waynesburg had employed a fast break they might have made a different game out of it. They were deadly shots. The Titans on the other hand had an "off-night" missing many easy lay-up shots.

The Westminster team will be idle this week until Saturday night when they will go after their 15th win of the season by clashing with Thiel college in a renewal of post-war relations at Greenville's Thiel college gym.

Davis-Blanchard Staying In Army

Touchdown Twins Announce Decision While Visiting In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—(INS)—Take it from Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis themselves—they're staying in the army.

The West Point touchdown twins whose combined gridiron talents stirred many a rousing cheer, got together in Philadelphia over the weekend on a statement to throttle the awe and cry of speculation about their future.

Will Stay In
From the home of a mutual male friend, they gave Philadelphia sportswriters a joint announcement.

"At no time have we entertained thoughts of abandoning our careers in the army."

"We had no thought whatsoever of resigning when we applied for a furlough. Football was and is incidental to our army careers."

"The incident is closed and our army careers go on as originally planned."

Eddie Musial May Emulate Brother, Signed By Cubs

Young Eddie Musial Hit 334 For Fayetteville Last Season; Is First Baseman

By JAMES H. JORDAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)
DONORA, Pa., Feb. 3.—There's a new star twinkling on the baseball horizon these days—a star that soon may glitter with all the brilliance of Donora's favorite baseball son, Stan Musial.

In fact, the slugging youngster who may find a place in the major league diadem is a brother of the St. Louis Cardinal star and National league's most valuable player. He's 22-year-old Eddie Musial.

Eddie, now the property of the Chicago Cubs after being passed by the Boston Braves, hit at a .374 clip for Fayetteville, N. C., of the Tri-State league last year—not bad at all for a fellow in his first year of organized ball.

Predict Bright Future
Now his followers in Donora, and the Cub farm system, too, are predicting a major league future for the youngster who served five years in the army during the war.

Oddly, Eddie's record—and his looks—closely parallel that of his more-famous brother. He played baseball for Donora high school, and then joined the Monongahela Merchants of the Mon Valley league. When he was discharged from service he trained with Boston at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., until he came up with an infected foot.

Developed Sore Arm
He was sent to Deland, Fla., to train with Indianapolis. The Indians sent him to Richmond, Ind., of the Ohio State league, but he developed a sore arm and was released outright.

Stan's introduction to organized baseball was somewhat similar. He was a pitcher for Daytona Beach, Fla., of the Florida State league in 1940, playing the outfield when not on the mound, when he injured his arm making a shoestring catch in right field. His pitching days were over.

But he was given another chance in the outfield, and the next year was brought up by St. Louis.

Plays First Base
His second full season with the Cardinals he led the league in hitting with a .357 mark and was named the most valuable player in the National league—an honor which he won again the past season.

It was after his release by Richmond that a Chicago scout urged Eddie to take another fling at baseball and he wound up at Fayetteville. Originally a slugging outfielder, he was shifted to first base—just as was his brother this past season—and he was a hit from the start, both at field and at the plate.

Real Cloutier
By July 1 he was hitting at a .356 clip. The sore arm had vanished. His base-running was outstanding. He led the team in stolen bases. He won a base-circling contest.

On Aug. 15, he hit the season's only homer over the high right field fence at Kingston, N. C. And he also was selected for the league's all-star team by managers and sports writers.

If he isn't up there emulating his big brother in the big time soon, there'll be a lot of his fans badly disappointed.

Sharon And Aliquippa On Spot As Class "A" Race Becomes Tighter

Ben Visit Ellwood City, "Quips" At Beaver Falls In Section III Tilts; Slip By Either Team Will Mean Re-Inquishing Lead; Section XXI Active.

Sharon high's Tigers buckled under the terrific pace Friday night and in so doing now share the lead in section 3 with the up-and-coming Aliquippa Indians who weathered their big test at Ambridge.

Sharon's loss to their arch-rivals, Farrell their first of the season in the loop, was the chance the valley-ites hoped for, and Tuesday may see the fight break wide open if either quint falls.

Both On Spot
There is no doubt of it—both the Bengals and the Indians find themselves on the spot with Tuesday's games scheduled for disposal. Sharon moves into Ellwood City and the "Quips" trek to Beaver Falls.

The fact that the two league leaders are meeting the section's cellar-dwellers means little in this circuit. Both the Wolverines and the Fallsmen are long overdue for another win and may sting their rivals. Ellwood put up a slashing battle before succumbing to New Castle, 45-42. Beaver Falls rested Friday and is eager to resume with a win over the "Quips."

From here on the race should be very interesting, almost a duplicate of last campaign in which the same two title aspirants fought tooth and nail to the wire and then two hectic play-off tilts for the crown.

"Whiz Kids" At Ambridge
New Castle's "Whiz Kids", back on the victory road after a long detour, move into Ambridge with the "Bridgers" anxious for the scrap. One of New Castle's two wins in the section is over the Drake crew and the valley quint has not forgotten the loss. They may prove just too tough for the hard-fighting Red and Black, especially on their home boards.

Farrell, still in the race with their upset of Sharon, will rest Tuesday, taking up their chores again Friday when they play hosts to Ellwood City.

Section 21 Busy
In Section 21 all members will be active Tuesday. Wampum, with a fat lead in the loop with seven wins and no defeats, strives to make it No. 8 when they entertain Princeton.

Bessemer, still doggedly nipping at Wampum's heels with a six and one record, takes on a dangerous Union outfit at the Cement City.

In other contests, Mt. Jackson travels to New Wilmington and Shamango goes to East Brook.

FALCON "C" TEAM WINS
Polish Falcon "C" team rolled to its ninth win Saturday by handing the "Boro Bombers" a 46-37 defeat, with Pragack collecting 16 points. Parks, with 20, sparked the Bombers.

Friday the Falcons tripped the Franklin Hi-Y passers, 48-36.

Ecclesian Club Defeats Sharon

Ecclesian club basketball team journeyed to Sharon Sunday and defeated the St. Josephs of that city 54 to 44 with Ciazza, Rags Genocchio and Lindy Lauro starring. It was the 14th win of the year for the Ecclesians. The locals led at the half 24 to 19.

Grid Fatalities Total 21 During Season Just Past

Seek To Lessen Element Of Danger In Popular Fall Pastime In Nation

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university asserted today that football was directly responsible for 21 fatalities during the past campaign.

He added, however, that only two of these fatalities occurred in college ranks.

Dr. Eastwood gave his report before the American Football Coaches Association and the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, in convention at New York recently.

The report revealed that there were more direct fatalities during the past season than in any year since 1936. Dr. Eastwood pointed out that increased participation during 1946 might account for the increase in the number of deaths.

Not Highest Figure

In addition to the 21 direct fatalities during the past season, there were four fatalities for which the gridiron game was held indirectly responsible. The high point in gridiron fatalities occurred in 1931, the first year of the study, when there were 31 direct fatalities and 18 indirect.

Dr. Eastwood emphasized, however, that on the basis of the number of participants, the gridiron game is much less hazardous than being a pedestrian, driving a car, or hunting.

Seeks Safeguards

Dr. Eastwood, seeking to safeguard football players, suggested the appointment of a qualified committee to study the design of head-gears as well as the material used in their construction. He pointed out that over the past 10 years, more than 40 per cent of football fatalities have been the result of head injuries.

Other recommendations made in the report were:

1. Certain state high school athletic associations need to vigorously promote football safety measures among their member schools.

2. Careful study of fourth-period fatalities is necessary in view of the increasing number which are occurring during the final quarter.

The procedure for practice periods should be reviewed carefully to eliminate potential hazards such as (1) scrimmaging without adequate officiating, (2) placement of squads on the field so that there is complete freedom of movement, and (3) equal quality of equipment used for practice and games.

3. Develop new tackling and blocking practice dummies, in order to improve tackling and blocking techniques. The present devices are not used enough because they do not simulate playing situations.

SAINT RESERVES WIN

The St. Mary's Reserves defeated the Pigo A. C. Sunday at the Catholic Center floor 38 to 37. J. Sullivan was the high scorer with 12 points.

Frank Frisch, veteran National league manager who declined an offer to become a scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, is expected soon to take the position as radio announcer for the New York Giants this season.

Second baseman Emil Verban has joined the list of Phillies' holdouts, following receipt of his unsigned contract by General Manager Herb Pennock.

Babe Ruth Comments In National Magazine About Norma Pearce

George Washington Junior High Student, Resident Of Mahoningtown, Surprised

Norma Pearce, 14 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pearce, of 8th and Maple street in Mahoningtown, has made a decided hit with none other than the old "Bumbe" himself—Babe Ruth, the former famous New York Yankee home run king.

It all happened thusly—Norma has a hobby of writing to celebrities and of course when she saw that Babe Ruth was writing a nice letter—just as any young fan would do.

Imagine Norma's surprise last week when she happened to be in the Solomon News stand in Mahoningtown and was shown a copy of the Sporting News, a baseball paper, and portion of the letter that she had written to Babe Ruth was commented on in the paper.

Babe in picking out Norma's lovely letter said that girls as well as boys get a kick out of writing to him and that he gets a kick too when the feminine touch is injected in his behalf.

Norma is a ninth grade student at George Washington Junior High. She is interested in writing and may some day become a famous newspaper woman, who knows. Needless to say Norma is the envy of all the young girls in her neighborhood, in making a National magazine.

Signs Of Spring At Court House

Talk Of Candidates Is Heard
—Many Officials To Be Selected

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

No matter what the groundhog thought yesterday when he unhitched himself from the arms of Morpheus, the signs of spring are around the court house. You can always tell when the spring is nigh by the talk of candidates for nomination. The spring primary is not so far away and a lot of offices are to be filled.

The three county commissioners are up for public bid this year and already a number of candidates have put out the idea that "their many friends have urged them to run." If all the friends who urge people to run for county commissioner were laid end to end there would be no end to it.

The county treasurer's office is wide open. Under the law Frank W. Hill is ineligible to succeed himself and he therefore will not be a candidate.

The term of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar expires this year as does that of the county controller. Rumors are as thick as warts on a pickle but with one or two exceptions nobody has said definitely he is a candidate for anything.

In the city a mayor is to be chosen, two city councilmen, a city treasurer, and three school directors. A lot of offices and probably a lot of candidates and the early signs of spring bring out the candidates like the early sun brings out anemones.
